

Ginsburg Institute 2024 Summer Camp Experience

Is your family income under $66,600 a year?

Are you a Nemours Children's associate living in Central Florida?

Do your school-age children have summer camp experiences and costs?

You may be eligible...

If you answered yes to these questions, you may qualify for a program to cover the costs of summer camp for your school age children. With the initial funding available, the Ginsburg Institute for Health Equity will demonstrate its commitment to child health equity through funding in the Central Florida geography.

The Institute convened an expert panel that recommended a focus on leveraging Nemours Children's resources to identify innovative programs, initiatives, and commitments to advance child health equity and evaluate its impact with a focus on Central Florida. Leveraging Nemours Children's role as an employer anchor institution and community partner in Central Florida, the Ginsburg Institute will commit to this through facilitating summertime experiences for those facing socioeconomic barriers. First, we will work to improve child health equity within our walls before going "beyond".

Many health system employees and their families face the same barriers to health equity as other community members. Leveraging the Ginsburg Institute's commitment, Nemours Children's will directly support interventions, practices, and policies to determine how as a health system we can promote health equity for employees and their families. Promoting equity and wellbeing within Nemours Children's associates and their families would also demonstrate the importance of this commitment to equity to the rest of the community.

Why summer enrichment?

The Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute has developed a map of over 150 studies on social needs interventions to visualize the volume of research on interventions by social needs. The Evidence Map shows that compared to other social needs, studies on interventions for children's healthy growth and development including child care assistance, early childhood education access and quality summer time experiences and educational assistance are very limited. One of the gaps in opportunity for child development is often linked to summer experiences for school age youth.
